SUBJECT
ATTEMPT ASSAULT ON OFFICER

I was deployed at SW Madison St.and SW 5th Ave. St as a line officer with Delta Squad of RRT to perform crowd management at an anti-police protest in the greater downtown area. This protest was an extension of protests that occurred the previous eight nights in the same area. Those protests (05/29/20-06/06/20) involved extensive and wide-spread vandalism, arson, looting, assaults and multiple shootings.

I was acting as a line officer with Delta Squad at the direction of my squad leader to clear a crowd of approximately 200-300 protesters who had gathered in the area of Chapman Square and the streets to the west of Chapman Square. The protesters were ignoring repeated loud, clear orders from the sound truck, which was less than 100 feet south of the park, to leave the area, and warning the them that if they failed to do so they may be subject to use of force.

The crowd in the area was very angry, and were throwing multiple projectiles, including glass bottles and explosive fireworks, at members of a mobile field force that were standing with us at that location and at our squad. I had been struck by at least three full plastic water bottles and was struck in the leg and injured by a glass bottle. As Delta Squad moved the crowd westbound on SW Madison from SW 5th, I saw an officer, later identified as Ofc. McLeod, struggling with an unknown male protester on the south sidewalk mid-block. I saw a woman, later identified by detectives as Sofia MURRAY, approach Ofc. McLeod from behind. She was holding a bicycle in both her hands, and began striking Ofc. McLeod in the back with it.

I approached MURRAY and force was used against her (see FDCR). I then placed MURRAY into flex-cuffs, and inventoried her, finding nothing of value. I noted that in MURRAY's purse was a can of silver or gray spray paint and an empty glass beer bottle. There was rampant spray painted graffitti in the protest area, and I saw many similar beer bottles thrown at officers.

I then walked MURRAY west to SW 4th Ave where the Field Arrest Team took custody of her and the bicycle.

I later spoke with Ofc. McLeod, who told me that he had no injuries from being struck with the bicycle.

Nothing further at this time.

Associated Case #20-680593
In summary I was working field arrest for this case. I took custody of MURRAY from Portland Police Officer Browning. I was informed that MURRAY was being charged attempt assault on a peace officer, interfering with police, and disorderly conduct as she was striking an officer in the back with her bicycle as the officer was . I took custody of MURRAY, recorded the relevant information about the arrest and searched MURRAY. I placed her property into an evidence bag and placed MURRAY in my squad car. I then took MURRAY to the Detective Division for formal arrest. I turned MURRAY and her property over to a detective along with the relevant arrest details.

Narrative

On June 6th, 2020, I was assigned to a Formal Arrest team during a protest that was occurring in the downtown Portland area in regards to the in custody death of George Floyd. At approximately 0120 hours, Detective Cavalli and I were assigned to process the custody of SOFIA MURRAY, who had been transported to the Detective Division by Officer Dimatteo. We were advised MURRAY was in a group that had been given instructions by the Portland Police sound truck to disperse the area. We were advised MURRAY was still in the area when officers were attempting to make custodies and that Officer Browning had arrested MURRAY after observing her strike another officer with her bicycle as the officer was attempting to place another subject into custody. I observed MURRAY had blood on her face. I asked MURRAY if she was injured or bleeding. MURRAY said her boyfriend had been bleeding from the mouth and she had kissed him. MURRAY stated she was not injured. Officer Dimatteo delivered a the bicycle that MURRAY used to strike the other officer as well as a green backpack with had been taken as prisoner property.

Detective Cavalli and I walked MURRAY into the processing room where she was photographed and fingerprinted. I searched MURRAY'S backpack and observed swim goggles, a can of spray paint and an empty Modelo beer bottle inside her bag. It was known to me that protesters had been throwing bottles at police earlier in the evening. The mentioned items were photographed and seized as evidence on receipt #A165825.

We walked MURRAY to a table for interview and I advised MURRAY of Miranda. MURRAY stated "Yes" when asked if she understood her rights. MURRAY also signed the Miranda form acknowledging she understood. MURRAY told me she came downtown tonight at about 2200 hours to "peacefully protest." MURRAY said she was in the area around the Justice Center for the majority of the time she was there. I asked if she saw that the crowd was no longer peaceful and advised her subjects were throwing bottles and bricks at officers. MURRAY confirmed she did see people throwing things, but said she had not. I asked MURRAY if she heard the sound truck announce this was an unlawful assembly and give orders to leave. MURRAY stated "I'm not gonna answer that." I told MURRAY an officer arrested her because she had hit another officer with her bike. MURRAY told me she never hit an officer with her bike and said she was just walking her bike down the sidewalk. I confronted MURRAY about her statement and asked why an officer would lie about what he saw and told her we are taking videos of the protest and there are tons of people with cameras. MURRAY again said she was just walking her bike and then "I was not trying to slam my bike into him." MURRAY then said her vision was not great as she was wearing fogged goggles. MURRAY said she thought the officer was just another person in front of her and that she did not mean to hit him. MURRAY again said she was just wheeling her bike away and did not think she hit the officer with her bike, but said she may have run into him with her body. MURRAY said she was not in any way attempting to prevent an arrest from being made. MURRAY said the spray paint did not belong to her and said she had the beer bottle in her purse because she hadn't seen anywhere to throw it away. MURRAY said she had no intention of throwing the bottle at police. MURRAY said she was at the protest with her boyfriend who was also arrested. I asked MURRAY if she had remained after being told to leave because of her boyfriend. MURRAY said "I didn't ask him to leave" but said he had stayed so she stayed. I explained to MURRAY she was being charged with Interfering as she had remained in an area after being given a lawful order by the police to leave and asked if she thought that was fair. MURRAY answered "Yes." I had originally told MURRAY she was arrested for attempt assault of a police officer and told her we were going to be charging her with harassment for making unwanted offensive contact with the officer. MURRAY stated "I'm a lot more comfortable with that." I asked if she would agree she made contact with the officer. MURRAY answered "Yes, but it was not intentional."

MURRAY was walked to MCDC and booked on charges of Interfering, Disorderly Conduct II and Harassment. Please refer to Officer Browning's report for details of the custody and his observations.
